

OPRS300: Operation Research

This course will help the learners understand how strategically important the role of an Operational Manager is and how they function by giving them an understanding of how to accomplish a task efficiently. The main task of the operation manager the planning, directing operations, and making improvements in productivity and efficiency.
Credit Hours: 3