Database Management Systems : Lesson 11

Students will define a database, field, record, and table as well as explain rational and logical operators. They will identify the ways that databases can be used in the legal environment.

Credit Hours: 50