SPAD400: Specialized Network Administration

This course will provide students with knowledge of global Internet technology. This course is designed in a way to provide students with an understanding of architectural network designs, network topology requirements, configuration management, fault management, performance management, monitoring resources, Quality of Service (QoS), and security policies.
Credit Hours: 3