

ELHLTH100: Fundamentals of Electronic Health Records

This course is the fundamentals of electronic health records entirely designed in a way to introduce students to the modern healthcare environment. Students will get an overview of healthcare information systems, healthcare transactions, and billing using different software so that they can work with electronic health records.

Credit Hours: 3