

ENTREPRENEURSHIP 200

BUSINESS STUDIES DEPARTMENT MISSION STATEMENT

Aligning with the Lakewood University mission, our innovative business programs will prepare learners to work as valuable managers and leaders in their respective workplaces, facilitating change for the benefit of the organization, its stakeholders, and society.

ENTP200 — Entrepreneurship, 3.0 hours

PROFESSOR

Jim Gepperth, M.P.A. owns and manages a small business in North Olmsted, Ohio. He is a former program director of a large non-profit charity organization serving northeast Ohio and has 22-years of experience as a manager in the non-profit sector. Jim holds a Master's degree in Public Administration from the Maxine Goodman Levin College of Urban Studies at Cleveland State University. He has experience teaching Political Science, Public Administration, and Business courses at the college level, as well as training and lecturing as a consultant. Jim continues to be involved with a variety of charity organizations throughout northern Ohio. In his spare time, Jim enjoys reading biographies, watching sci-fi movies, and cheering for Cleveland sports teams!

Schedule Time to Study

Motivate Yourself

Your career success depends on studying for your course. In order to be successful, you must study. Keeping yourself on a consistent schedule for studying and working on your lessons will make all the difference.

Avoid Distractions & Stay Focused

Close social media tabs on your computer, put your phone on silent, hush your music, and get to a quiet space. Consider the work that you're doing right now as a plan for your future—you must avoid distractions.

Read Smart

For this, sit in a comfortable space and skim the text. Then, go over the vocabulary of the lesson and only after you are familiar with the terms, begin to read the chapter.

Review

Look at the assignment, and then reflect back on the chapter you have read. It is important to read the text and not just find the assignment's answers. This will prepare you for the final.

Other Tips

1. Make flashcards of important terms and ideas from the lesson. This will help reinforce ideas.
2. Stay on schedule. Nothing is more difficult than trying to play catch-up because you got behind.
3. Stay rested and get enough sleep, especially before tests.
4. Take a break. Cramming for an exam and trying to absorb too much material at a time will only end in frustration.

EVALUATION METHOD

Exams

There will be a final exam of 50 questions at the end of your course. It will be closed-note, closed-book and you will have a 3-hour time limit.

These exams are proctored. For more information on proctoring, please read the information outlined under the Final Exam section or contact Student Services.

Definition of Terms

Within your course, there is a PDF document in each lesson that lists the key terms for that lesson.

Assignments

These assignments are typically 1 to 2-page written assignments unless otherwise stated. The assignments should be brief yet thoughtful and well-written. All sources must be cited.

Forums

The forums are interactive and designed for students to delve deeper into the lesson. Each student is required to post one original comment as well as respond to a fellow classmate's post.

Additional Resources

Within your course, you may find games, videos, presentations, flashcard sets, or other supplemental items that may allow you to gain further knowledge from just the textbook alone. These items also make great study aides.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY/ PLAGIARISM:

Cheating (dishonestly taking the knowledge of another person whether on a test or an assignment and presenting it as your work) and plagiarism (to take and pass off as one's own the ideas or writing of another) are a serious issue. While it is legitimate to talk to others about your assignments and incorporate suggestions, do not let others "write" your assignments in the name of peer review or "borrow" sections or whole assignments written by others. We do get ideas from life experiences and what we read but be careful that you interpret these ideas and make them your own.

I am aware that many types of assignments are available on the internet and will check these sources when there is legitimate suspicion.

Penalty is a zero on the assignment. In cases where there is a major or continuous breach of trust, further discipline, such as an "F" in the course, may be necessary.

The major consequence of any form of cheating is damage to your character and the result of trust and respect.

DISABILITY ACCOMMODATIONS

Students who have a disability and wish to request an academic accommodation should contact Jim Gepperth, the Disabilities Services Coordinator and Academic Dean. The student can request an accommodation at any time although it is encouraged to do so early in the enrollment process. The student should complete an accommodation request form which begins a conversation between the school and the student regarding the nature of their disability and an accommodation that would help the student succeed in their program. The school may request documentation regarding the disability to address the accommodation request effectively. The school will communicate to the student the type of accommodation arranged. This process typically follows a team approach, bringing together persons from the academic department (including the instructor) and personnel from other departments as necessary. Additional information on disability accommodations may be found in the Lakewood University Catalog.
