Schedule Time to Study

Figure out when the best time is for you to study. Make studying a habit. During your study time, only your lessons are important.

Motivate Yourself

Your career success depends on studying for your course. In order to be successful, you must study. Keeping yourself on a consistent schedule for studying and working on your lessons will make all the difference.

Avoid Distractions & Stay Focused

Close social media tabs on your computer, put your phone on silent, hush your music, and get to a quiet space. Consider the work that you're doing right now as a plan for your future—you must avoid distractions.

Read Smart

For this, sit in a comfortable space and skim the text. Then, go over the vocabulary of the lesson and only after you are familiar with the terms, begin to read the chapter.

Review

Look at the assignment, and then reflect back on the chapter you have read. It is important to read the text and not just find the assignment's answers. This will prepare you for the final.

Other Tips

1. Make flashcards of important terms and ideas from the lesson. This will help reinforce ideas.
2. Stay on schedule. Nothing is more difficult than trying to play catch-up because you got behind.
3. Stay rested and get enough sleep, especially before tests.
4. Take a break. Cramping for an exam and trying to absorb too much material at a time will only end in frustration.

BOOKS AND RESOURCES

Farrell, Joyce. Java Programming. 9th ed. Cengage, 2018.

EVALUATION METHOD

Exams

There will be a final exam of 50 questions at the end of your course. It will be closed-note, closed-book and you will have a 3-hour time limit.

These exams are proctored. For more information on proctoring, please read the information outlined under the Final Exam section or contact Student Services.

Definition of Terms

Within your course there is a PDF document in each lesson that lists the key terms for that lesson.

Assignments

These assignments are typically 1 to 2-page written assignments unless otherwise stated. The assignments should be brief yet thoughtful and well-written. All sources must be cited.

Forums

The forums are interactive and designed for students to delve deeper into the lesson. Each student is required to post one original comment as well as respond to a fellow classmate's post.

Additional Resources

Within your course, you may find games, videos, presentations, flash card sets or other supplemental items that may allow you to gain further knowledge from just the textbook alone. These items also make great study aides.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY/ PLAGIARISM:

Cheating (dishonestly taking the knowledge of another person whether on a test or an assignment and presenting it as your work) and plagiarism (to take and pass off as one's own the ideas or writing of another) are a serious issue. While it is legitimate to talk to others about your assignments and incorporate suggestions, do not let others "write" your assignments in the name of peer review or "borrow" sections or whole assignments written by others. We do get ideas from life experiences and what we read but be careful that you interpret these ideas and make them your own.

I am aware that many types of assignments are available on the internet and will check these sources when there is legitimate suspicion.

Penalty is a zero on the assignment. In cases where there is a major or continuous breach of trust, further discipline, such as an "F" in the course, may be necessary.

The major consequence of any form of cheating is damage to your character and the result of trust and respect.

DISABILITY ACCOMMODATIONS

Students who may have a disability meriting an academic accommodation should contact Jim Gepperth, the Disabilities Services Coordinator and Academic Dean. For accommodations to be awarded, a student must complete a form and provide documentation of the disability to the Disability Services Coordinator. Any accommodations for disabilities must be re-certified each year by the Disability Services Coordinator before course adjustments are made by individual instructors. Additional information on disability accommodations may be found in the Lakewood University Catalog.

GUIDELINES

Assignment submitted must contain:

1. Your Name
2. Proper grammar and spelling
3. All the required parts of the assignment

It is very important to make sure that the assignments you submit are a reflection of you. Make sure you write in complete sentences, use proper paragraph format, and for goodness sake, run the document through spell check! You want to submit a great assignment! If there are too many errors, your assignment may be rejected and sent back, so make sure it's great the first time!

SYLLABUS DESCRIPTION

Lakewood College recommends that you try to stick as closely to the provided scheduled syllabus as possible. Although the course is self-paced: there is an attendance requirement, so by sticking to the provided syllabus, you are then making yourself accountable for your turning your work in timely and not getting overwhelmed.
