AMILT100 — American Literature, 3.0 hours

PROFESSOR

Haley Pavic has worked in all levels of education, providing support, assistance, and tutoring, since she was 13 years old. She is passionate about bridging the gap in literacy and writing skills that affects many adults, both young and old. Haley earned her Master's degree in Writing from Johns Hopkins University.

Haley enjoys both reading and writing science fiction and fantasy and is currently working on a novel. She lives in Painesville, OH with her dog, Xena, and a clowder of cats.

BOOKS AND RESOURCES

Kirszner, L. G., & Mandell, S. R. ([Insert Year of Publication]). PORTABLE Literature: Reading, Reacting, Writing (10th ed.). Cengage Learning US.

EVALUATION METHOD

Graded work will receive a numeric score reflecting the quality of performance.
Course Requirement Summary

- Assignments - Total of 80 Points
- Weekly discussion forums-Total of 80 Points
- Final Essay-Total of 25 Points

GRADING SCALE

---

Graded work will receive a numeric score reflecting the quality of performance as given above in evaluation methods. The maximum number of points a student may earn is 250. To determine the final grade, the student's earned points are divided by 250.

Your overall course grade will be determined according to the following scale:

A = (90% -100%)

B = (80% - 89%)

C = (70% - 79%)

D = (60% - 69%)

F < (Below 60%)

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY/ PLAGIARISM:

---

Cheating (dishonestly taking the knowledge of another person whether on a test or an assignment and presenting it as your work) and plagiarism (to take and pass off as one's own the ideas or writing of another) are a serious issue. While it is legitimate to talk to others about your assignments and incorporate suggestions, do not let others "write" your assignments in the name of peer review or "borrow" sections or whole assignments written by others. We do get ideas from life experiences and what we read but be careful that you interpret these ideas and make them your own.

I am aware that many types of assignments are available on the internet and will check these sources when there is legitimate suspicion.

Penalty is a zero on the assignment. In cases where there is a major or continuous breach of trust, further discipline, such as an "F" in the course, may be necessary.

The major consequence of any form of cheating is damage to your character and the result of trust and respect.

DISABILITY ACCOMMODATIONS

Students who may have a disability meriting an academic accommodation should contact Jim Gepperth, the Disabilities Services Coordinator and Academic Dean. For accommodations to be awarded, a student must complete a form and provide documentation of the disability to the Disability Services Coordinator. Any accommodations for disabilities must be re-certified each year by the Disability Services Coordinator before course adjustments are made by individual instructors. Additional information on disability accommodations may be found in the Lakewood University Catalog.

DESCRIPTION

This course enables students to improve their writing and critical reading skills, develop an understanding of how cultural events impact literature and media, and help them use critical thinking skills to improve their analysis and argument skills. Additionally, the class puts emphasis on research, showing students how to locate, identify, and cite outside sources to improve their own arguments.

OBJECTIVES

1. Demonstrate the ability to critically analyze and evaluate American literature texts.
2. Analyze the elements and techniques used by authors to convey ideas and messages.
3. Explain the historical and cultural contexts that influenced the development of American literature.
4. Interpret and analyze various American literature forms, including but not limited to short stories, poetry, and novels.
5. Identify and describe the major themes and motifs present in American literature texts.
6. Develop original interpretations and perspectives on American Literature texts supported by evidence and analysis.
7. Organize and develop essay drafts with correct formatting and ideas expressed in clear, concise, and correct English.
